

Construction consultancy and project facilitation:

Independent professional support for your project

A Strong Focus on Successful Project Delivery

Logic PM is a professionally accredited, independent, construction project management company. Our advisers focus solely on the successful delivery of your project and work with you and the team to achieve this goal.

Through our combined experience in the industry, we have developed a unique set of processes which ensure we deliver unbiased and competent advice in every aspect of our appointment. Our dedicated 'hands on' approach also ensures that we stay in control of the project at all times.

It's simple, project facilitation and consultancy services from Logic PM can:

- Save time and money by effectively planning and managing all aspects of programme development and monitoring with the project team and contractors.
- Establish a projects logistics strategy early in the project programme. This allows all stakeholders to understand the importance of having areas available for contractor occupation.
- Create a close out strategy early on in the project and drive the completion of the works to a satisfactory and timely conclusion.
- Reduce the significance of buildability issues on site. With a background in manufacturing and contracting, our early involvement can prevent issues that may arise in the project.

Services Available Across the UK

We offer services across the UK from our central office in London. We formulate and execute programmes and project strategies, for construction, refurbishment and interior projects by implementing tested procedures for successful delivery.
